Quality Assurance: How to Guarantee Quality

CCN Academic Committee

As the highest authority for CCN academic affairs, Academic Committee (AC) is the decision-making body for CCN academic strategies, academic criteria, programme approval, quality assurance, etc.

Functions & Responsibilities

- Instruct CCN Academic Management Centre (AMC) in the development and review of the CCN Academic Quality Assurance (QA) System.
- Review and approve the new academic programmes (framework, syllabi, and teaching materials, etc.)
- Instruct CCN AMC to evaluate the delivery quality of IFP programmes at each IFP centre.
- Instruct CCN AMC to evaluate the quality of IFP exam implementation and results of each IFP centre.
- Provide advice on a variety of important academic issues.

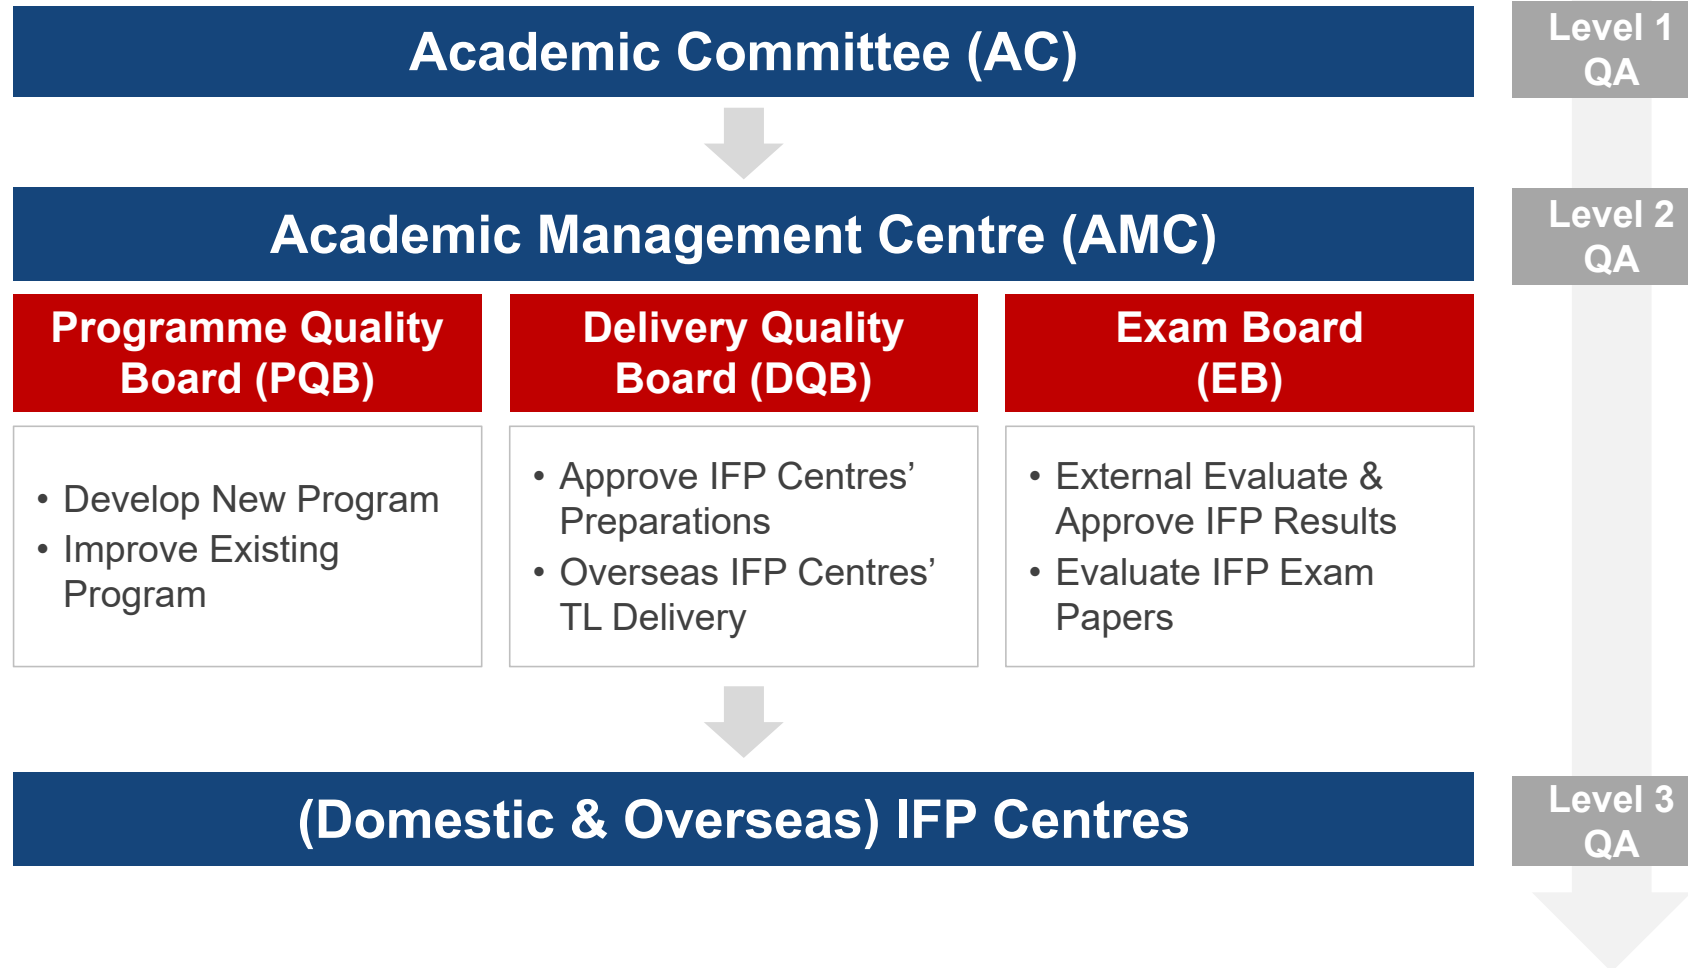

Quality Assurance (QA)

Academic QA System has been established by CCN to set the academic quality standards for IFP and to ensure that CCN International Foundation Centres adhere to these standards in the delivery of IFP.

CCN QA System consists of three implementing bodies: the CCN International Foundation Programme Centre, the Academic Management Centre (AMC) and the Academic Committee (AC); each under the supervision of its parent body in a bottom-up order.

Assessment

A student's IFP result is defined by the final score of EACH subject.

In order to graduate from IFP^{1-N}, a student's IFP result must achieve at least 60% in the final score of Chinese for Academic Purposes (the integration of General Chinese and Chinese for Subject Purposes), and the Average of the final score of all subjects.

The final score of EACH subject is based upon formative and summative evaluations:

- Attendance performance of EACH class sessions (10%)
- Standard Monthly Exams (20%)
- Mid-term & Term-end Exams (20%)
- Final Graduation Exam(50%)

All exams are computer-based through the online assessment platform of CCN Digital Campus.

Internal Marking & External Moderation

Following standard QA procedure, IFP Graduation Exam will be internally marked by IFP centres and then externally moderated by external Exam Board (EB) experts before results are final and released to students and to universities for Admissions and Scholarships purposes.

The EB experts will carry out a comprehensive review of the quality of the IFP Graduation Exam, including the quality of the exam paper, the quality of exam delivery of all IFP centres, and the quality of the exam results through double marking, based on which EB experts will do the external moderations on IFP graduation exam results.

EB External Moderation is a fundamental insurance for the fairness and validity of IFP assessment.

Entry Requirements

Any students who have acquired basic education qualification and passed required obligatory subjects for their different targeted stream, can choose to apply for different routes of CCN IFP programmes based on their Chinese language level.
